

Answer-1

this `setTimeout(() => console.log(i), 100);` this function will be stored at the heap memory and then move to the queue and the event loop will constantly check for the for loop to finish and print `i = 1000000000` at the last.